THE TRAIL

FOREWORD

Time flies by. Where does it go? No one has answered this question, but everyone does know that once it has gone it will never come again. Life cannot be relived, but it can be remembered. That is the purpose of our annual, to recall to many people the days spent in school. The days which are the happiest, busiest and most rewarding of anyone's life. May these days be remembered with a smile as you look through this book, now and in the future years.

The Senior Class wishes to thank the faculty, advisors, sponsors, and everyone who helped make this annual possible.

A Sketch of the New Elementary School Building

DEDICATION

We, the seniors of nineteen fifty-five, dedicate this annual to the citizens of the Old Fort School District. Through their generosity and kindness they have passed a bond issue which will provide for an elementary school building. The new school building will take care of the overflow of grade children and provide the much needed space.

CLASS HISTORY

On September 7, 1943, thirty-three inexperienced first graders started climbing the ladder of learning. Of the original thirty-three, eleven remain to graduate. Mrs. Mosier was our first helper. That year we presented the play, "Little Black Sambo," before an audience.

Mrs. Shaull taught us writing during our second year. In the second grade we had the misfortune of going to school on Saturdays.

With Miss Day as our teacher, we began the third grade. We learned our multiplication tables. We gained several new students that are still attending this school.

Miss Dick guided us through the fourth grade.

In the fifth grade, Miss Lynch led the way.

Mrs. Cloutier was our sixth grade teacher.

In Junior High School we had two advisors, Mr. Mehaffey and Miss Robinson. The highlight of our eighth year was presenting the play "The Little Red School House" before the school. Graduating from the eighth grade, we received diplomas into Senior High School.

As freshmen we received the customary Freshmen Initiation. Mr. Crosby was our advisor.

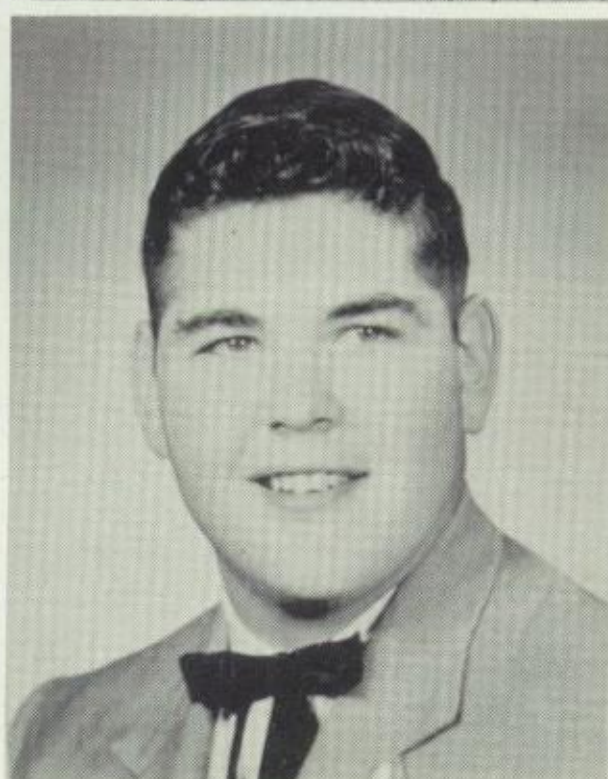

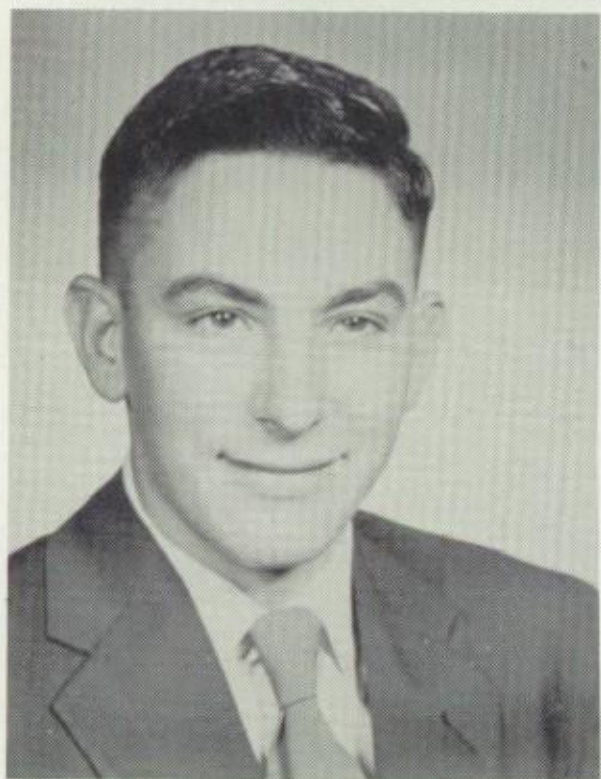

Our sophomore advisor was Miss Hixson. The highlight was that some of the sophomore boys and girls served at the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Mrs. Newman and Mr. Austermiller were advisors for our Junior year. Activities included receiving class rings and presenting the annual Junior Class Play entitled "Meek But Merry." The exciting highlight of the year was decorating for the Junior-Senior Banquet. The theme for the banquet was a carnival.

Now we have reached our Senior year. Looking back through the years, many memories come to mind. In the years to come, these memories will always be a part of our unforgettable days in school.

As we review our climb up the ladder of learning we notice it has not always been an easy one, but with the help of our teachers we have reached the twelfth rung. We wish to thank the many teachers and other employees for their help and guidance further up the ladder of learning. We hope that in years to come they will be rewarded for their time and effort spent in helping us.

PROPHECY

I left Old Fort High in '55 to seek my wealth in gold.
I also found some classmates whose fates may now be told.
I traveled to the big city and who did I happen to see
But Carol Keim, she's still as busy as can be.
She said she had planned a party and it would be a ball.
That night when I went to the party, I hung my coat in the hall
And Jeannette Johnson came to greet me, Oh, gee! she had grown real tall!
We talked over our school days, and classmates names began to recall.
As "Mistress of the Keyboard" we remember Jane Heckerd.
She's now a stand-in for Liberace, we need that for the record.
And we remember Annette Wagner and her violin.
She is now working with Jane as "brother George's" stand-in.
Two weeks later I traveled to Florida and met the "Beauty of the State."
She happened to be Darlene Hammer, another classmate.
There also I met a salesman, the best the state had seen
And it happened to be Tom DeRan, selling "Freckle Cream."
We stopped for dinner in a restaurant to talk the old times o'er.
And found Sylvia Blaney to be the restaurant's proprietor.
Next day I was rushed to a hospital with a big bump on my head,
Where I awoke to find Eileen Lemmerman and Colleen Mehaffey standing beside my bed.
They were dressed in nurses' uniforms, then it all came back to me,
In '55 they always said, "Nurses we're going to be."
Retta Shaul's voice has gotten her far,
She's furthering her career as a Metropolitan star.
We remember Ron Fowler, he never drove slow.
Now he drives at a race track, and is rolling in dough.
And who's running the race track? Ronnie Fry is the boss,
And with Fowler driving, never suffers a loss.
Realizing her dream is Nancy DeRan.
She's now very busy, keeping house for her man.
I later attended a party and met a girl dressed in fur,
And recognized Jack Blue as the fellow with her.
Remember Don Witter and Ken Estep and their trophies from debates?
They now sit in the Senate, representing different states.
Martha Kemp has taken to acting in a big way.
She now has her name in lights shining down on Broadway.
Nancy Koke is Dean of Women at a large state college.
She keeps the girls in line while they absorb knowledge.
Pat McCoy we remember with her cheerleading pep.
She's now "Sarge" in the WACs, and you should see her step.

Bob Kline has made a career from his hobby of photography

With his camera on his shoulder, covering all the latest news is he.
You remember Jim Stover as a singer, of course.

He now rides the range, singing songs to his horse.

When Marion Mellott played ball, remember the words he said?

He's now writing a new dictionary, that stuff's gone to his head.

We hear that Don Evans is still walking the floor

He's now testing shoes for Kibby's Shoe Store.

When John Hoover went into farming, this was not a mistake

He now owns large herds of cattle and runs a big estate.

Earl Chaney is still lecturing on machinery and farms,

The hillsides, the green meadows and all of their charms.

All twenty-five of the "Class of '55" were doing well, it seemed.

Then I turned in my bed and opened my eyes, this is just what I dreamed.

(Last Will and Testament Continued)

I, Nancy DeRan, will my ability to go with the boys all over the county to Roberta Chaney in hopes she will keep in stride.

I, Marion Mellott, will my position on the Old Fort Basketball squad to Jon Abbott.

I, Patricia McCoy, do hereby will to Lynda Dicken, Jim Stover's letter sweater, in hopes it will keep her as warm as it kept me, if she wants it.

To Charles Alford, I, James Stover, will all the girls in Old Fort High after May, 1955.

I, Martha Kemp, will my first trumpet chair in band and orchestra to Jane McCormack.

I, Donald Witter, will my ability to be the next to the last one out of the locker room after practice to Skip Gillmor, if he can find anyone slower than he is.

I, Jeannette Johnson, will my ability to go without my lunch to David Hoover, who is in dire need of it.

I, Donald Evans, will to Lewis Ewing my beautiful black hair.

I, Carol Keim, will my ability to laugh at nothing to Laretta Hoover, who already has a good start.

I, Earl Chaney, will to Bobby Keim my basketball shoes, in hopes that he will shrink them and put them to good use.

I, Jane Heckerd, will my candelabra to Jeanie Dunlap so she might become another Liberace.

I, Eileen Lemmerman, will to my sister Wilma, my violin in hopes she'll be able to help Jeanie by taking George's place.

I, Thomas DeRan, do hereby will my first clarinet seat in band and orchestra to Charlie Miller, who I think would make a fine clarinet player.

We, the Senior Class of the Old Fort School do hereby sign this, our last will and testament, in the eyes of our Witness.

When Fred Hastings spends more money than his parents believe he is earning, when his friend, Larry Madison, attempts to get his chum out of hot water, and when an eccentric lady of eighty decides to play football, any attempt at trying to preserve the sanity of other casual observers becomes futile.

Fred's mother, Cora, is planning a birthday party for Fred's girl, Nancy, but when two strangers, beautifully feminine appear, the plot thickens. Fred is doomed; his job as model for Glamour Girl Cosmetics is about to be revealed. But leave everything to Larry, Larry insists. Gilbert Hastings, Fred's father, is furious when he learns of Fred's modeling job. Nancy isn't sure how she feels about it; Julie Tucker's chief concern is being able to keep the puppy Larry has bought for her on the installment plan. And that's when Melinda Whipple, that wiry bundle of energy, eighty years strong, appears.

The play will be given at Republic, March 30. At this time there were no results available.

The 1954-55 basketball season proved to be an extremely successful one. It ended with Old Fort reigning as Champion of the Seneca County Tournament.

The Stockaders, also, tied for the runner-up spot in the County League race. Old Fort and Bettsville each ended league play with 6-3 records.

In the tournament, the Stockaders romped over Melmore but had to come from behind and win an overtime contest from Bloomville to gain the coveted position in the finals. Again in the finals, Old Fort had to come from behind to gain the first-place trophy. This was the first tournament championship for Old Fort since 1945.

The team advanced to the District Tournament in Tiffin but was defeated by Leipsic, the Hancock County Champion.

more squad had set his defenses to stop Old Fort's Pete Mellott. But the strategy only served to leave teammates Don Witter, Gene Barto, and Ron Fry in the clear to rack up the points.

All told, Mellott hit for 15 points while Witter tallied 19. Barton and Fry each had 12.

Left Little Doubt

Old Fort left little doubt as to who the winner was to be as it jumped to a 23-10 first period lead and tallied 15 more as a safety measure in the second stanza. The halftime score read 38-19 in favor of Old Fort.

Hopewell - Loudon gained its second victory of the season by toppling Bloomville, 66-50. Bloomville has yet to win a game in league play. Hopewell four points in the first quarter, 12-8, and went to a 27 point outburst in the second stanza.
